Benefits of Avocado

Avocado can be said to be an extraordinary fruit because it looks very delicious, it also has many benefits for health purposes. There are lots of fruits in the world, but in fact it is not the case. Even though there are lots of fruits, we have good to buy fruits with a lot of nutrients.

Avocado are a natural source of fiber, which is essential for healthy bowel movements. The synthetic version of folic acid is recommended for all women who plan to get pregnant, and eating avocados is a simpler, tastier and natural option.

The content of lutein and zeaxanthin in avocados has an important role to maintain eye health. Lutein also has a positive effect on heart disease, stroke, cancer prevention, and many other diseases.

Avocado can be said to be an extraordinary fruit, because in addition to delicious taste, it also has many benefits for health purposes. There are some opinions that say eating avocado is bad because it contains lots of fat, but in fact it is not the case. Even by eating avocados can actually help us to feel full longer, so it is good to help control excess weight.
